Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 01 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A cloudy day for most, brightest in the west.

Today:
A cloudy start with patchy light rain or drizzle for eastern areas, mainly across the Pennines. Early rain soon clears, and cloud cover will gradually break up into afternoon, with Cumbria seeing the sunniest skies. Feeling warm in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
A cloudy night for most with some patchy drizzle over eastern high ground. Some clear spells in the northwest with the odd fog patch forming here by dawn. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Thursday:
A cloudy to start for most, but brighter across Cumbria with any fog here soon clearing. Cloud cover will break up to give widespread sunny spells by the afternoon. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Cloudy starts Friday and Saturday, locally chilly under the odd clearer spell; rather warm sunny spells then develop each day. Turning unsettled Sunday, with rain and possibly thundery showers arriving.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.